

Alzheimer's Disease Partnership

The Alzheimer's Disease Partnership aims to engage organizations, agencies, institutions, and individuals to work collaboratively to reduce the impact of Alzheimer's disease and related dementias (ADRD) in Texas and to promote the Texas State Plan for Alzheimer's Disease.

Members

The membership is a volunteer network of approximately 200 partners. The Alzheimer's Disease Partnership comprises:

- A wide variety of individuals from state, local, and community organizations
- Academic and research institutions
- For-profit and nonprofit organizations
- The health care industry
- Family members of individuals impacted by ADRD

Members work together on the following topics to reduce the impact of ADRD:

- Risk reduction
- Early detection and diagnosis
- Community linkages to treatment, care, and services
- Disease management
- Professional and public education
- Reducing disparities related to ADRD

Benefits of Membership

- Gain insight and understanding of the challenges many Texans face related to ADRD.
- Collaborate with a large network of other members to bring about the Texas State Plan and/or to partner on other ADRD projects and activities.
- Learn creative ways to address ADRD challenges from national, state, and local organizations.
- Connect with individuals and ADRD-related institutions to address ADRD issues in Texas.
- Increase awareness of new funding opportunities and resources to help with ADRD-related goals.
