TO: WIC Regional Directors

FROM: Amanda Hovis, Unit Manager

DATE: January 21, 2015

SUBJECT: TexasWIC.org

---

The TexasWIC.org website is being revised and is anticipated to launch in late Spring 2015. More detailed information will follow closer to launch, but in anticipation of the launch please note the following:

- Participant web lesson data from the current TexasWIC.org site will not be migrated to the new site. In order for participants to get nutrition education credit for completing a class online, they need to either 1) print and bring their certificate to the clinic, 2) write down the class title, certificate number, and date they completed the class to show to clinic staff, or 3) take a screenshot of their certificate on their phone to show to clinic staff. This will be especially important for clients to do in Spring 2015 to ensure they get credit for completing a class online.
- Staff may use the generic web lesson code, WL-000-00, in the WIN system from April to July 2015 if the nutrition education code for the specific web lesson taken is not known.

A short message will soon be added to the Class List page of the current TexasWIC.org website to inform participants of the upcoming change and remind them to bring their online class certificate information to the clinic.

New posters and fliers about TexasWIC.org will be coming soon to clinics. Please stay tuned for more information.
